Hartford Federation of Teachers Sponsors Teacher – Parent Communication Seminar

The school-home connection brings parents and teachers closer together.

On Thursday, May 6, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., and on Friday, May 7, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., the Hartford Federation of Teachers and Hartford Public Schools are sponsoring a School-Home Connection training seminar at SAND School (1750 Main Street) to encourage parent involvement with their children's education. This framework for positive teacher-parent communication examines controllable factors in the home and societal changes that affect student achievement and success.

The training will provide strategies and guidelines to involve parents with the progress of their children, based on their needs and abilities. In addition, the No Child Left Behind guidelines will be presented and explained to parents. Recognizing that parents and teachers must work together as partners if children are to succeed in their day to day classroom experiences, this training and "how to" seminar will offer valuable ideas and information for both parents and teachers.

For additional information, contact Jacquelyn Hardy at (860) 695-8409 or Jerry Clapis at (860) 209-2441.
