HARTFORD CIVITAN CLUB DONATES $1,000 TO CLARK ELEMENTARY SCHOOL LIBRARY

(HARTFORD, December 17, 2004) – The John C. Clark Elementary School has received a $1,000 donation from the Hartford Civitan Club to help furnish an activity area in the school library. “The Civitan’s donation will be used to purchase several large stuffed cushions that the children love to relax on when they are reading,” said Dr. Robert Morris, Clark School principal. “We are very grateful for the Civitan’s generosity and I hope that this is just the beginning of increased support for our library.”

Frank Arnold, Hartford Civitan president, said, “Civitan’s motto is ‘Builders of Good Citizenship’ and so we are happy to make this donation, which I hope will encourage these young students to become lifelong readers.” Currently, Clark School students are on a mission to read 10,000 books this year, a goal which Morris says they will easily reach. In fact, Morris said he is thinking about increasing the number to 15,000 books.
