ABOUT US

Pathways Academy of Technology & Design, designated as the nation's Top Secondary School by Magnet Schools of America in 2014, is located in a new building on the Goodwin College campus in East Hartford. Pathways students benefit from a unique college preparatory learning program where students, outfitted with personal laptop computers, learn in all their subject areas through creative projects that integrate advanced technology, including graphic design, digital video and media, programming, and robotics.

Each student belongs to a small advisory group where a teacher gives them close attention and keeps families well informed. Our strong business partners help students develop real-world skills through mentoring and professional internships.

If a rigorous, innovative, 21st century-learning program is for you, join the Pathways family!
